Learning opportunities at the IOG

Access our leading expertise

Our learning products give you the knowledge and tools you need to be successful in an environment where change is the only constant. All of our learning products are developed, tested and taught by former senior public servants and reflect the most up-to-date knowledge of policies, practices, structures and the true functioning of the enterprise.

Our learning products address your specific needs

Our courses and leadership programs draw on our research, our experience, action-oriented case studies and exercises with the goal of providing insight and practical tools that enhance learning from concept to solution and inspire transformative change.

Executive Leadership Program (ELP)

Our ELP is a response to the changing public sector world in which we live. Over the course of a year participants develop the applied strategic and tactical knowhow needed to meet the leadership challenges of an increasingly complex public sector shaped by globalization, digital technologies and shifting demographics.

Leadership Boot Camps

Our Boot Camps prepare you to take on greater responsibilities within your functional community be it science-policy, communications, policy, human resources, comptrollership (audit and finance), evaluation or information technology.

Day Courses

Our open enrollment day-long courses help you successfully navigate the system. They cover a wide range of topics including how government really works, emerging policy development tools and processes (e.g. behavioral economics), how to brief with impact and more.

Custom Courses

We customize our course content to meet the unique needs of any federal, provincial, territorial, or municipal department or agency. Customized courses can save you money while addressing your particular objectives, history, stakeholders, personalities and culture and are informed by our extensive research in all areas of management, leadership and governance.
